Lou Douglas Lecture Series on Public Issues Fall 2025

Leading for Impact: How to Change Your Community One Person at a Time

Our communities need leadership. They need individuals who are able to show up and engage with others towards an end, even if that end is big, hard to imagine, and even harder to achieve. We also need more spaces where new ideas are not only encouraged but sought after. Spaces where community members are empowered, with skills and confidence, to work with neighbors to change systems and improve outcomes. Each of us has something to offer to make Kansas stronger, healthier, and more prosperous. Dr. Monk-Morgan will share ways to leverage individual efforts and move our communities forward.
